

Who We Are

CTY Housing, Inc. is a Los Angeles-based company that builds affordable housing and provides consulting services to affordable housing developers, public agencies, non-profit lenders, and foundations across California. Our mission is to help families and individuals stabilize and grow by supporting private and public affordable housing providers with the development and financing of high-quality affordable housing in California.

Through our work, we help create high-quality, affordable housing solutions that address the diverse needs of communities, from workforce housing to permanent supportive housing for those with special needs. With over 60 years of combined experience, our team guides clients through every stage of the development process, ensuring that each project not only meets financial feasibility but also contributes positively to the communities where they're developed.

Who We Serve

CTY Housing serves a wide array of stakeholders committed to affordable housing and community development. Our clients include public agencies, non-profit and for-profit affordable housing developers, community development financial institutions (CDFIs), and foundations. We collaborate with organizations that share our vision of creating inclusive, sustainable communities by developing housing that serves diverse populations, including low-income families, seniors, veterans, individuals with disabilities, homeless, and transition-age youth.
